

Send London, 8 PM from Havana Riviera Hotel

Q: Have you talked about this?

A: I submitted the question to someone, got back, "Not interested" (in pursuing this).

But someone else, political, in a good position to know, said:

1) What I had inferred ~~was~~ [Cuba takeover] ~~Not~~ was absolutely didn't happen. (couldn't have, because) it would be known by now - and there's no hint of it; too many people would have had to be eliminated to keep the secret...

2) But (he said) "I would suggest, based on what I have heard, ["informed rumor" = SC] another explanation for the incident;

the Russians were battling ... Russians (!) for control of the base.

[me: Why?]

Because a local Russian faction [or is SC?] was unhappy with the decision/order to dismantle the ministry."

me: But that was the next night! (evening of 20th)

SC: No, it came originally earlier - perhaps the night of the 26th.

DC: That's the night of the incident; and of K's private letter proposing the deal on which
